MONTHLY SUMMARY

MAET.ASX (NET)

The Munro Global Growth Fund returned 2.5% for April. Long equities and hedging contributed to performance, partially offset by short equities and FX, which detracted. April was a tumultuous month for financial markets, with Donald Trump's Liberation Day tariff announcements driving sharp sell-offs. Markets recovered throughout the month as some tariff timelines were paused combined with resilient commentary around earnings and outlooks from Q1 2025 results. Netflix (Digital Media & Content) was a key contributor to performance as a leaked report revealed the company aspires to reach a $1 trillion market capitalisation by 2030, it was also supported by low exposure to tariffs and perceived recession resilience. GE Vernova (Climate) and Siemens Energy (Climate) both released strong results, supported by strong demand in gas turbine orders running ahead of expectations. Amazon (E-Commerce) was a key detractor from performance, with concerns around China tariff risks and the associated exposure to their e-Commerce business. CRH (Infrastructure) was weak on the uncertainties created by a potential recession and impacts from potential tariffs. Northrop Grumman (Security) also disappointed relative to expectations, with results overshadowed by the unexpected loss provision on the low-rate initial production phase of the B-21 bomber.
